For Ultimate Foundation Victory Has Been Laid

INCREASED

CHUNGKING, July 7 (Central)-With the Sino-Japanese war entering the third year to-day, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek makes a stirring appeal to the 450,000,000 Chinese people to invigorate their struggle for the ultimate victory the foundation of which, he says, has already been laid through their efforts in the past two years."

In his lengthy manifesto, Generalissimo Chiang declares: "Our enemy has already dug his own grave; it remains for us only to push him in. Our enemy is making a last struggle; we may now inflict the severest and last blow upon him.'

Generalissimo expresses gratification at China's growing national strength as the war progressed in the past two years in contrast to "the steady weakening of Japan. He points out, in particular, the strengthened determination of the Chinese to fight to the end, the growing national consciousness and confidence China's ultimate victory, the creasing efficiency of China's was machine, and the wide sympathy shown and assistance rendered by nounced to-day that despite un- the friendly Powers.

SOUTH AFRICAN CHAMPION WHITCOMBE DEFEATS R.

Standard Produced Mediocre Character

Bobby Locke, the South African champion, beat Reginald Whitcombe, the Open champion, by the decisive margin of six and five in the 72-holes £1,000 challenge match at Coombe Hill, Ringston. Two up at the end of 36 holes, Locke was six up with nine holes to play and won at the 67th.

A good deal of money changed hands, but except for those financially interested the match did not excite the measure of enthusiasm and interest usually associated with contests of this kind. Perhaps it was that the standard of play produced by two such distinguished golfers on a course lending itself to bursts of billiance was of a very mediocre character.

Marriage And Nationality

developments aproac have once again brought to the fore the much-vexed question of the nationality of women married to allens. Under the existing law a British woman marrying a foreigner or a foreign woman marrying a British subject acquires the nationality of her husband.

Last summer Lord Alness introduced into the House of Lords a bill providing that a British woman marrying a foreigner or foreign woman marrying British subject should retain her original nationality unless she made a specific application to the contrary.

The bill failed to reach a second reading owing to the opposition of the Government, but a recent conference of women's organisations decided to launchi a campaign in its favour.

Indeed, according to those who travelled in the Royal liner, the King spent a great deal of his time on the voyage home preparing for this speech.

A deliberate omission in His

But, in the best informed quarters at Court, it is widely believed that already a tentative scheme is receiving consideration for the King and Queen to visit South Africa in

CHINA CURRENCY VICTORIOUS

CHINA'S CURRENCY has scored a well-deserved victory over that of Japan during the two years of the Sino-Japanese hostilities and the dollar stands definitely victorious over the yen. This is evidenced by the fact that. last month, the former, for the second time, was freed from artificial control and allowed to find its own economic level in terms of confidence, intrinsic purchasing power and as one of the chief media of international trade. They were saved only by the timely arrival of police reinforce-

Spite Of Japanese Interference In Customs And Salt Revenues

CHUNGKING, July 6 (Central)—In spite of the Japanese interference with the Customs and salt revenues in the "occupied" areas, and their attempts to undermine China's currency, China paid out not less than $530,000,000 for the services of external and internal obligations, according to a statement on "China's War Finance and Foreign Interests" issued by Dr. H. H. Kung, President of the Executive Yuan and Minister of Finance, on the eve of the second anniversary of the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese hostilities.

The statement reads

The expectations of those who, China's financial fuguet. at the cutbreak of the present Sino-Japanese hostilities, predicted the early collapse of China's finances as well as of her army, have been sadly disappointed. Today, after two full years strenuous war operations. China's financial structure remains intact. with facts' pointing to continued ability to stand the strain.

DECLARED POLICY

The people's progress toward political unification, coupled with their new-born patriotism and loyal support of the Government's declared policy, has further strengthened the Government's hand in managing the nation's wartime finance.

The relatively simple pattern of China's economic life, which essentially agricultural and selfsufficient in many respects, is less vulnerable to unsettling effects of a major war than is Japan's highly industrialized system.

China's vast hinterland, rich in man-power and natural resources, together with the remarkable power of endurance and recuperation which characterizes the Chinese race, has enabled the Government to erect therein a strong base. for national resistance and reconstruction and to adopt a policy of playing for time.

Australian Rugby Tour

COMING VISIT TO ENGLAND

England will receive from Australia this year the strongest Rugby Union team that has over left the Commonwealth. It is after viewing the position from all angles that one comes to that conclusion.

For the past three years Australla has been developing various departments of the game until now in the international sense. their men are ready and fit to meet the best that England and the other Home Country Unions can put in the field, writes J. C. Davis in 'the "Sunday Times."

Just the right sort of mixture of youth and experience is available for the Australian selectors. For men under the age of twenty are possible members of the team; two these, Ramalli and Carrick, are considered certainties. On the other hand only three men over the age of thirty are likely to go. 1, 1937, to December 31, 1938,

VERY DIFFERENT A rugger team is very different from a cricket team. At the age of thirty everyone regards a footballer as somewhat houry and ancient at thirty-five a cricketer has his future generally ahead of him.

There is to be complete abandoning of players simply because their ages are advanced. "The wine in old bottles is good and so is the football of many a player who is considered a veteran. The Springboks of 1937 brought home the truth of this to Australians. Their best men were over thirty years o

Half of football is brains; half brawn. We Australians feel that the man who has been tried in many games, and has been continually learning the science of tactical play, is, often the most useful man in a team. Therefore we expect to see that the Australian team" will reflect this outlook and that several tried and experienced men over thirty years of age will be included.

Woman Appointed Home Bursar

OXFORD, May 30-History has been made at Oxford by the appointment of a woman as Home Bursar of Balliol. She is Miss A. Bradbury, who has for the past five years been Stewardess of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge.

This is the first time that a woman has held such an appoint ment at a man's college in the University.

Miss Bradbury succeeds Col. A. C H. Duke, who has been Home Bursar since 1920 and a Fellow since 1929, and is retiring at the end of this term. She will, of course, not be a Fellow of the college, and will not take part in college affairs outside her immediate province. Nor will she have a seat at High

ISCIENCE MUSEUM

The report of the Advisory of the Science Museum for the year 1938 indicates that, while the attraction of the Museum for the general public evidently has not diminished, the attendance figures have reached the practicable maximum in present circumstances. The number of visitors during the year, excluding readers in the Science Library, was 1,137.635. highest total for one day being the 23,806 recorded on the Easter

The yearly total has now remained substantially constant for a number of years, such variations as appear being no more than can be accounted for by varying weather conditions and the competition of public events.

The experiment of keeping the Museum open until 8 p.m. on three days in the week was not very well supported, only 34,735 persons, having entered after p.m. during the period, from April which the extension was in force.

It may be observed" here, however, that the particular days of later closing were not prominently advertised: had the closing time been uniform throughout the week, many might have made the journey to the Museum who were .notprepared to take the risk of finding it closed when they arrived.

SLANDER SUIT BY DANCE BAND LEADER

Woman's Hunt For Daughter-In-Law

"The story is by no means a happy or a bright one," said Mr. E. R. Guest, in opening a slander action before Mr. Jutice at Oxfordshire Assizes "recently. He appeared for Mr. Edward Leo Singleton, a mechanic and conductor of a dance band, who sued Mrs. Fanny Bishop. Freeland, near Oxford.

Unfortunately the marriage was not a success and on more than one occasion she was forced to leave Bishop, This had nothing to do with Singleton, but accusations had been made, that she had been seduced away by Singleton, which was untrue.

Mr. Guest said that between 1936 and 1938 her husband and her mother-in-law did not know where Mrs." Harry Bishop was, The defendant worked herself into a state of mind in which she supposed the whole of the trouble was due to Singleton.

Get him out as soon as possible otherwise can only see trouble for you."

The market opened 1/8 of a cent higher for all deliveries pared with Wednesday's closing quotations. Steady conditions prevailed during the morning session due to fair enquiries for immediate and forward deliveries by consumers and dealers, whilst speculators were also displaying some buying interest in futures.

It would appear that activity was stimulated by a decidedly better tone on the Stock-markets in London and New York, as well as by reports of improving business-prospects, particularly in U.S.A., coupled with expectations of further relaxation of the political ten-

During the afternoon, however, the market turned quiet and inactive, closing with a dull undertone.

NEW YORK COTTON

An initial buoyancy was displayed by to-day's market, and prices were higher. A steady tone was in evidence, with new speculative buying and "bear" covering in progress, but the conditions were generally narrow. The volume was also small. Later, prices receded slightly, with some early gains partially pared off.

NEW YORK BUBBER

There was an early advance in to-day's market. Selling was offset by broadening factory demands." Buying was generally increased and the tone of the market was improving.

CHICAGO WHEAT

Prices moved slightly lower on some liquidation and profit-taking, influenced by easier Winnipeg advices. Trading was generally slow and fluctuations were confined to a very narow range.

H. K. STOCK EXCHANGE

As the week progressed, and as mentioned yesterday, enquiries for the more popular stocks are proadening. A local section of investors is displaying an increasing interest in H.K. Bank, Lands and Utilities. So far this buying has Paid-Up Capital£3,000,000 not led to an advance in prices, tor the attraction possibly has been the acquisition of shares slightly under the nominal quotations recorded at the beginning of the week. But it must not be supposed that shares will continue to be available at present levels. In the absence of any further untoward political news, should the demand for the more popular stocks be maintained, it may be fairly assumed resistance point has about now been reached, and some slight improvement in price levels should ensue.
